BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Department of Energy (ODOE) was established in 1975 in response to the national energy crisis. Its mission is to promote the efficient use of energy and to advocate for the use and development of new renewable energy. Since its creation, ODOE has been assigned a variety of energy-related responsibilities, including regulatory functions. The Department is structured around four operative divisions: Nuclear Safety and Emergency Preparedness; Energy Planning and Innovation; Energy Development Services; and Energy Facility Siting. The Department is overseen by a Director who is appointed by the Governor. The Department receives no General Fund revenue.

Senate Bill 1537 establishes the Oregon Energy Commission as the policy and rulemaking body for State Department of Energy. The measure requires the department to develop a statewide strategic plan, and transfers certain duties of the Department and Director of Department to the Commission.
