

I taught for over 50 years; indeed once some years ago I was a consultant for the Assessment of the States. In the latter role I had a chance to see just how such testing works. I concluded the very basis of the system, the notion that learning can be assessed in such a fashion, is totally incorrect...indeed, corrupt since it benefits the test owners exclusively to the detriment of the learners and their mentors/teachers. I am in favor of HB2318...
