

hb2001 is a poor idea that will make affordability in portland and elsewhere worse than it is...

we need a demolition moratorium at best, and curtail upzoning, or folks will continue to be displaced...

kotek's lack of vision only rewards the developers and investors/speculators....

a fine example is the lack of real affordable housing....

% of mfi, and some semi affordable housing is touted as mfi, when it's not...

we need protections of sfh that boast 20 min neighborhoods, that already have a mix of those homes, duplexes, triplexes, and multi-family the investors are the benefactors of hb 2001, not the real folks of oregon...

is that the kind of proposal state that reflects oregon?

no it isn't...

sincerely,
