

Dear Representative,

I am writing to ask you to vote no on House Bill 3065 that would take away Philosophical exemptions to vaccines.

My Son Josh was injured by the DPT vaccines causing grand mal seizures for years. My daughter Perla was injured by the MMR vaccines and the Gardasil vaccines.

I recently had an adverse side effects to the hepatitis B vaccine myself. I now have an auto immune disease because of hepatitis B vaccine. Alopecia. I have to go to the doctors and get referrals to the dermatologist to get injections in my scalp to ease the inflammation and pain, And to grow the hair back. This costs $25 co-pay to the doctor and $45 co-pay to the dermatologist every time I come. United healthcare does not pay the co-pays and does not cover much of the cost of the injections. They are very Expensive. I have a lot of medical bills. This is all because of the hepatitis B vaccine injuring me. Alopecia is listed on the hepatitis B vaccine insert as one of the adverse side effects that can happen from the hepatitis B vaccine. To the dermatologist specialist thought that I would not need the injections anymore but now all of my hair has falling out again and the pain And inflammation is back in my scalp. So now I need to go back to the dermatologist specialist and pay more money. And I am in pain.

We Do you not have medical exemptions. I hear they are hard to get. However we use the philosophical exemption and are using it because of medical reasons. Most people that use the philosophical exemption are using it because they have had adverse side effects from vaccines. We should not have to have a medical exemption to stay away from vaccines that have injured us.

The CDC has recently added to the MMR vaccine insert that anyone who has a family member with auto immune disease should not have the MMR vaccine. So my children or family members should not have the MMR vaccine yet they do not have medical exemptions. My grandbaby should not get the MMR vaccine yet the doctor is going to force her to have the vaccine and possibly be vaccine injured before she gives her a medical exemption. This should not have to happen we should be able to use the philosophical exemption.

My father Keith Lloyd died two weeks after having his last flu vaccine.

It says right on the flu vaccine insert that death can be a side effect of this flu vaccine.

My mother Helen Lloyd developed an auto immune disorder after the flu vaccine. Rheumatoid arthritis and a rare disease FELTY syndrome. She died from this.

I did not report my vaccine injuries of my children years ago because I did not know about the VA ER S website for vaccine injury reporting. To this day many people have never heard of this vaccine injury reporting website. This indicates that most people do not report their vaccine injuries. This means that vaccines are less safe than people think they are because they do not know about the actual incidence of vaccine injury and death. I did report my recent vaccine injury with hepatitis B vaccine as well as my father's death from the flu vaccine.

There is a vaccine injury compensation court where people can sue the government but not the vaccine makers for compensation for their vaccine injuries. This There's a long drawn out procedure that can take years with no guarantee that your vaccine injury will be compensated for.

Vaccines are not 100% safe. Because of this they should not be mandated. We should have medical freedom and medical freedom over her children against vaccines that come with the risk of adverse side effects including death.

Philosophical exemption's should be excepted without having to have a medical exemption. It cost money to go to the doctor and get a medical exemption. Many people are poor.

Please vote no and retain medical freedom.
Thank you.

Respectfully,
