BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Law Commission's Probate Modernization Work Group has been reviewing the probate statutes since 2013. Their efforts have resulted in enacted legislation in the 2015, 2016, and 2017 sessions. During the 2017-2018 interim, the Work Group undertook changes to the probate statutes in three areas: estates in which no assets are known to exist; small estates; and estates in which the personal representative is pursuing a wrongful death claim.

House Bill 3008 provides a standardized process for probate of estates that include a wrongful death or personal injury claim. The measure requires court approval of any settlement of a wrongful death or personal injury claim by the personal representative. The measure waives certain requirements on the personal representative when the probate is opened for the sole purpose of pursuing a wrongful death claim and no other assets are discovered, such as obtaining a bond, filing accountings, filing inventories, and notifying creditors. The measure applies to settlement agreements, petitions to appointment for appointment of a personal representative, to damages received, and applications for compensations by the personal representative on or after the effective date of the act.
