A large percentage of Oregonians do not believe the 'climate' can be managed by any human nor is it caused by mankind. The climate has been changing since the beginning of time without the population the earth now has nor the industrialization that has occurred over the last century. Regulations and taxes are not going to make one bit of difference in weather or green house gasses. China and India are some of the worst polluters in the world and nothing done by Oregon is going to change their environmental concerns or lack thereof. This state has areas completely decimated by this kind of trumped up 'science'. I strongly urge you to completely void this bill and everything that led to it's even being brought up for consideration.

Thank you,

V Gottschalk
